

800 IRISH LASSIES ON NEW CUNARD.

A Rosy-Cheeked, Buxom Army of Erin's Daughters Invades the New World, Where They Will Work as Domestics.

An invading army of Irish domestics was landed this morning on the Cunard liner from the Royal Mail steamship Ivernia, just in from Liverpool and Queenstown on her maiden voyage. There were over eight hundred daughters of Erin in the consignment, which was the largest brought over by one steamer this season. Many will remain at this port, but the majority are booked for Eastern and Western cities. All were typical representatives of the land of Brian Boru, rosy-cheeked, buxom lassies, with that happy-go-lucky disposition of the race. When the steamer tied up to the dock they broke out in mighty chorus, singing the songs of their country to give vent to their joy on greeting the new land. There were the Murphys from County Tyrone, the Doolans from Munster, the O'Briens from Kerry, the McCarthys from Cork, the Hoolahans from Clare, the McGuirens from Limerick, the Hennessys from Waterford, and hundreds of others, all true representatives of the Irish race. As they filed off the big boat their friends gathered outside the immigration building and screamed out affectionate greetings of welcome and for an hour or more the dock was like a bedlam. It was a merry time they had coming over in the steamer. In all there were 1,332 huddled together in these quarters and of this number 1,187 were Irish. To keep them company there were 117 English, nine Scotch, 361 Swedes and 128 Norwegians. But there were no racial prejudices and from the time the steamer drew out of the Liverpool dock the 'tween decks rang with mirth and song. Soon after the steamer's arrival all the immigrants were crowded into the immigration station at the Battery, where their pedigrees were taken. Kate Boyle, a third-class passenger on the Ivernia, was stricken with diphtheria and died and was buried at sea when the vessel was out three days. Diphtheria not being a quarantine disease, the ship was passed and the passengers permitted to land. Over 600 of the 1,187 were ticketed through to Boston, and they left at once for that city. They will be distributed throughout New England. The Ivernia is the newest of the Cunard line fleet. She is 600 feet long, 44 feet 6 inches beam, has a speed of seventeen knots, an indicated horsepower of 12,000, two twin screws and is 15,900 gross tonnage.

SEVEN VISITS MADE BY THIEVES

The Last Time They Set the House on Fire.

Neighbors take more than ordinary interest in the latest De Filippi burglary, at 101 Liberty street, Brooklyn, because it was complicated with a fire. Otherwise the report that the "carpenter" had been robbed again would have been received with a polite smile or a weary shrug of the shoulders. Seven times has Dominick De Filippi been robbed since Sept. 7. De Filippi's carpenter shop is on the ground floor of the three-story brick building, and he lives with his wife and two daughters on the upper floor. Following is the record of burglaries: Sept. 7—Burglary got in a side window and stole crockery. Neighbors sympathized, and the window was double barred and nailed shut. Jan. 27—Side door broken open. A gold watch, jewelry and $25 in money taken. The door was closed and braced. Feb. 3—Back door forced and the safe blown open. Nothing in the safe. The back door was strengthened and a burglar alarm put on it. This was connected with the De Filippi bedroom. Feb. 6—A transom opened, and the thieves, finding nothing, mixed up Mr. De Filippi's tools and stock. An iron grating was substituted. The neighbors began to intimate that the carpenter shop was a burglar proving ground. Feb. 13—Back window forced. Nothing found. Back window could not be spared, so burglar alarm was placed on that side. Feb. 20—Front door lock picked. Nothing found. Another burglar alarm put in. The De Filippis found life miserable because careless friends set burglar alarms off when coming in. To-day—the burglar alarm at the rear door sounded. With it came smoke and fire. The thieves had broken in again. Not finding anything, they smashed a lighted lamp on a paint barrel. The fire gutted the shop. The loss is $2,500.

$2,000 A MONTH FOR HER.

Allowance Fixed by Court for Rich Woman in Her Old Age.

Amelia Stuyvesant will receive $2,000 every month from the United States Trust Company for the support and maintenance of Elizabeth R. Grafton, who has been declared an incompetent person. An order to that effect was signed by Justice Truax in the Supreme Court to-day. The Trust Company is the committee of the Grafton estate, which is valued at more than $1,000,000, and Amelia Stuyvesant is the custodian of Mrs. Grafton. Amelia Stuyvesant is a niece of Mrs.

THE JOYS OF LIVING

are dependent on good health. Without it we are a melancholy lot. No life or ambition, we plod along day after day in the hopeless rut of dependency. This is unnecessary, as all may enjoy the greatest boon mankind is heir to—perfect health.

TUESDAY, APRIL 24, 1900.

Have you been at the Invitation Home Trainer Race Meet now going on in our Bicycle Department?

It commenced Monday and will end Saturday. Ever since yesterday morning our Bicycle Department has been crowded with bicyclists and others interested in this healthy, popular form of exercise, watching the races and the men in training.

We give again, in full, the list of events:
No. 1. One Mile, open, Monday. No. 4. Half Mile, open, Thursday.
No. 2. Half Mile, open, Tuesday. No. 5. One Mile, open, Friday.
No. 3. Mile Handicap, Wednesday. No. 6. Finals, Saturday.
Races Will Start at 3 P. M. Sharp Each Day.
All the above races are to be run on the only two-roller Home Trainers in America. Four riders can compete at one time.
Walthour and Cramer, the well-known professional riders, give two exhibitions each day, at 11 A. M. and 2 P. M.
The prizes to be awarded consist of a fine bicycle and a choice selection of jewelry, all of which are now on exhibition in our show windows.

High Grade Watches In the Optical Dept.
for sportsmen at prices far below their actual value. Two timely offerings for Wednesday:
